Leadership Team Member
Identification Worksheet

This worksheet will help you identify potential leadership team members. Leadership team members should be individuals recognized as leaders of, or information technology professionals in their stakeholder group.

Review the information after completing the worksheet to determine if any individuals are listed in multiple stakeholder groups. Individuals identified in more than one stakeholder group will bring a great deal to the leadership team if they are interested in improving access to and use of information technologies in the community.

Name of geographic community _____

Stakeholder group	Key Leaders/Technology Leader	Phone/email
Government State Representatives County/Regional Municipal Governmental Agencies
School(s) K-12 Public and Private
Post secondary education
Local University Extension Staff
Business organizations/Business Incubators
Religious community
Media (public & commercial)

Telecommunications/Internet service providers
Non-formal civic leaders
Senior citizens
Civic groups (Especially organizations focusing on non-users of broadband or under-represented audiences)
Non-profits (Local philanthropic(s) including United Way and community foundations)
Library(ies)
Healthcare Hospital(s) & Clinics
Youth Organizations
Economic Development Organizations
Other:
Of the people listed above, who would be the most effective in serving as the "champion" for the group?		