

Foundations of Practice

*Community Development
Core Competencies for Extension Professionals in
the North Central Region*

Foundations of Practice

SLIDE

2

The Foundations of Practice: Community Development Core Competencies for Extension Professionals is composed of three major components:

- Understanding Communities and their Dynamics
- Developing Successful Community Initiatives
- Areas of Specialization and Emphasis

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Component 1

SLIDE

3

The first component, Understanding Communities and their Dynamics, is a series of seven core competencies that focus on:

- The ability to understand community of place.
- The nature of public issues.
- The dynamics and interdependencies of the various segments of the community.
- The basics of community development work.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Understanding Communities and their Dynamics

SLIDE

4

Basic Understanding of Community

Community Demographics

Community Economics

Community Power Structure

Natural Resources and Sustainability

Community Situational Analysis

Community Development Process

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Foundations of Practice

*Community Development
Core Competencies for Extension Professionals in the North Central region*

Community
Power Structure

Janet Ayres

Janet Ayres

SLIDE

6

Janet Ayres
Professor & Extension Specialist
403 West State St., 617 Krannert Bldg.
Purdue University
West Lafayette, IN 47907-2056
(765) 494-4215; (765) 494-9176 fax, ayres@purdue.edu

- Senior Fellow at NCRCRD developing The Foundations of Practice program
- 29 year career at Purdue in Leadership & Community Development; served as program leader for 6 years
- Developed the Indiana Natural Resources Leadership Development Program
- Developed over a dozen state-wide leadership development programs
- Past involvement in over 20 regional projects including the Take Charge program
- Currently working with a new College of Agriculture undergraduate leadership certificate program.
- Teaches undergraduate leadership course titled, Leadership in a Changing World.
- Developed leadership development programs in Poland and Russia.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Learning Objectives

SLIDE

7

- Learn how to identify key power actors and structures in the community and why it is important to know.
- Understand key concepts of power, authority, leadership & social capital.
- Understand how the concepts have changed, yet many people & institutions have not.
- Understand that community issues in today's reality call for a different type of power and leadership.
- Learn how community development addresses these issues.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Discussion on Activity

SLIDE

8

In your community...

- Who are the people who influence major community decisions?
- Why did you identify him/her?

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Traditional Characteristics of Power Actors

SLIDE

9

- Majority in 40-65 age range
- Above average income
- Above average education
- Business/professional occupations
- Long-term residents
- Do not reflect the diverse population
- Control key resources in community

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Community Power Actors Determine...

SLIDE 10

- Which community issues are addressed, or not addressed.
- The outcomes of community decisions.
- Allocation of internal or external resources needed for community action.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Support Block

Importance of Understanding Community Power Dynamics

SLIDE 11

In order to develop more inclusive, effective community programs, we need to know...

- Who has the authority to make community decisions.
- Who controls/influences resources.
- Who is not part of the decision making process that ought to be there.
- How to build community power from both within and outside the community.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

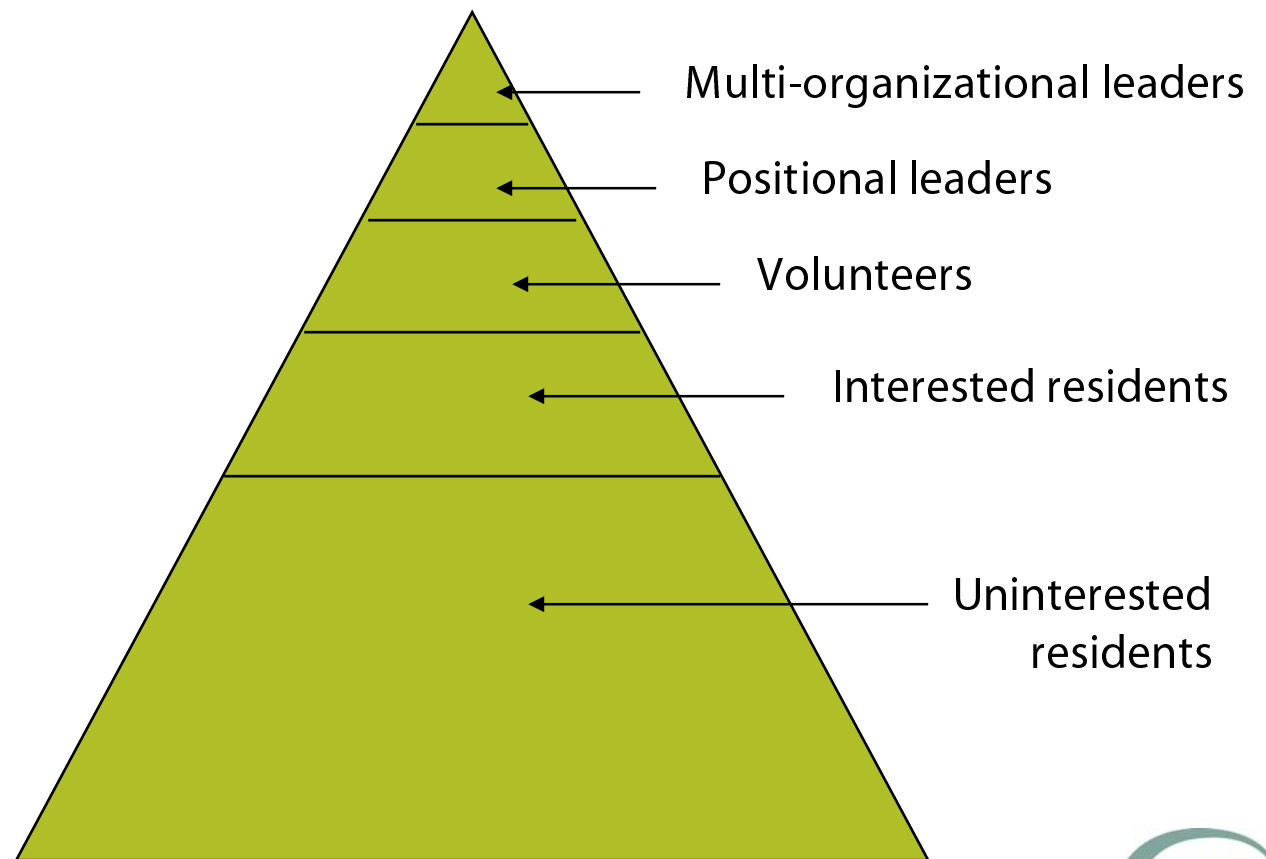

Community Involvement

SLIDE 12

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Identifying Community Power Actors

SLIDE 13

Reputation

Those with the reputation for community power among knowledgeable members of the community.

Positional

People in organizational positions with authority to make decisions.

Event Analysis

People who participate most actively in community events.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Community Power Structures

SLIDE 14

The community's power structure is the way in which those with community power relate to each other.

- Pyramid
- Factional
- Special Interest
- Coalition
- Amorphous

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Types of Community Power Structures

SLIDE 15

Pyramid

One person, family, or tightly knitted group.

A hierarchy.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Types of Community Power Structures

SLIDE 16

Factional

A community split by more than one group.

- Labor/Management
- Religious groups
- Political groups
- Others?

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Types of Community Power Structures

SLIDE 17

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Types of Community Power Structures

SLIDE 18

Coalition

Collaboration of multiple groups

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Types of Community Power Structures

SLIDE 19

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Amorphous

Lack of clearly identified leadership

Often during a time of transition

External Power

SLIDE 20

While a community has internal power, power is also derived from external sources.

Can you identify some external power sources?

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Concepts Have Changed

SLIDE 21

How we think about power and leadership has changed over the last few decades. Technology, the Internet and the globalization of our world have affected our lives in many ways, including leadership.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Traditional Leadership

SLIDE 22

- Focus on individual or few people with power
- More emphasis on authority of individual/position
- More homogeneous population
- Change occurred over longer time periods
- Limited involvement by residents
- Information not shared/processes not open
- Decisions made by those in authority

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Community Issues Today

SLIDE 23

- Rapid change
- Complex – no simple solutions, multi-party
- Controversial – many perspectives
- Cross multiple jurisdictions – “no one in charge”
- Different levels of power exercised
- Different levels of knowledge exercised
- Strongly held values
- Largely left unmanaged

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Contemporary Leadership

SLIDE 24

- Focus on leadership as a process, rather than on individual
- Change & conflict are prevalent
- Vision is essential
- Influence others toward vision & action
- Inclusive of stakeholders, diverse people & cultures
- Transparent processes (information & decisions)
- Ability to create a path as it is walked (courage & ambiguity)
- Ability to work across jurisdictions/boundaries

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Contemporary Leadership

SLIDE 25

“Leadership is the inspiration and mobilization of others to undertake collective action in the pursuit of the common good.”

-- John M. Bryson and Barbara C. Crosby

Leadership for the Common Good Fieldbook

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Shifts in Key Concepts -- Authority

SLIDE 26

Related to the concept of power is authority.

Authority entails the rights, expectations, and responsibilities given to a person who occupies a position.

Examples: Mayor, county commissioner, editor of local newspaper. These individuals are frequently referred to as community leaders.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Shifts in Key Concepts -- Authority

SLIDE 27

Ronald Heifetz at Harvard says that those in positions of authority often find it difficult to be a leader because of the expectations that person and others have of the position and the resistance to change.

Authority is a position; leadership is a process.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Shifts in Key Concepts -- Power

SLIDE 28

Power – a definition...

The ability to control or influence the decisions and/or actions of others.

The concept of power over others has changed to shared power with others.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Shifts in Key Concepts -- Power

SLIDE 29

Power...

the ability to do, to act.

Motivation + Resources = Power

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Shifts in Key Concepts -- Power

SLIDE 30

What might motivate a person to get involved in the community?

- Be involved with others; socialize
- Do something important; make a difference
- Obligation/expected – the “right” thing to do
- Feels good to help others; learn something new
- Other reasons?

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Shifts in Key Concepts -- Power

SLIDE 31

Community resources might include:

- Volunteers, knowledge, skills, talents, time, labor
- Money, grants, loans
- Networks with resources outside community
- Natural resources
- Physical resources
- Moral standards
- Political connections
- Other resources?

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Power Exists Within Many Entities

SLIDE 32

- Individuals
- Families
- Groups
- Organizations
- Agencies/institutions
- Community – the network/relationships among these units is referred to as social capital

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Social Capital

SLIDE 33

The ability of a community to address its important issues, to take collective action, is related to the levels of relationships and trust that exist between individuals and organizations in the community.

Fundamental to effective community development work is the ability to engage more and diverse people who are motivated and with skills & knowledge to be able to participate effectively.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Community Involvement

SLIDE 34

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Why Do So Few Participate?

SLIDE 35

Ability to Participate

- Don't have or take the time
- Don't have the energy
- Feel powerless, it won't make a difference
- Not knowledgeable of community issues
- Feel they lack communication or other skills
- Lack the self confidence or courage
- Have never been asked

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Why Do So Few Participate?

SLIDE 36

Sense of Civic Responsibility

- Don't see community issues as their concern
- Not interested in community issues
- Feel powerless to make a difference

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Community Power

SLIDE 37

Fundamental to building community power is:

- Capacity building to increase the skills and knowledge of individuals and organizations
- Trusting relationships between individuals and organizations
- Frequent and open communication
- Transparent processes
- External power

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

External Power

SLIDE 38

While there is power internal to the community, power can also be derived from external sources.

- Can you identify external power sources?

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Leadership Concepts & Community Institutions

SLIDE 39

- While individuals may embrace new concepts of leadership and power, they may not know how to put the concept into action. Different skills are needed today.
- Institutions are slow to change and may be based on traditional models.
- Communities are composed of both, creating a disconnect between talk and action.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Does a Community Have Power?

SLIDE 40

A way to think about whether or not a community has power to act, is to assess the following:

- When a community faces a critically important issue, how is the issue resolved? What is the process? Who is involved? How is the decision made and by whom?
- Do people come together to discuss and debate community issues which affect them?
- Is there a sense of trust in the community?

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Collaboration – A Way to Build Community Power

SLIDE 41

Collaboration is ...

“A process through which parties who see different aspects of a problem can constructively explore their differences and search for solutions that go beyond their own limited vision of what is possible.”

B. Gray in Collaborating.
San Francisco, CA: Jossey-Bass, 1989.

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Criteria for Successful Collaboration

SLIDE 42

1. Is the strategy likely to produce substantial, systemic, and sustainable results?
2. Is the strategy likely to bring people together in ways that heal rather than divide?
3. Does the strategy engage citizens in the process, in new and deeply democratic ways?
4. Will the strategy enhance the civic culture of the community or the region? Will it build the civic community? Will it make us stronger, more capable of dealing with future issues? Does it build trust among us? Does it build networks of reciprocity? Does it build the skills of collaboration?

David Chrislip. <http://www.well.com/~bbear/chrislip.html>

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Community Development Challenges

SLIDE 43

Community development is about developing the capacity of residents to more fully engage in their community and the public issues that affect them. This work creates challenges:

- How do we engage more people in community development work?
- How do we engage people who have not been involved in the community?

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Community Development Challenges

SLIDE 44

- How do we develop the capacity of people to be able to participate effectively?
- How do we address traditional mind sets & institutions?
- How do we develop more trusting relationships?
- How do we negotiate reciprocal external relationships?
- What is Extension's role?

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Foundations of Practice

SLIDE 45

Many of these “how to” questions will be addressed in the up-coming Foundations of Practice in Fall 2006:

- Component 2 (processes)
- Component 3 (programs, workshops and interest groups)

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Resources

SLIDE 46

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

Chrislip, David D. 2002. The Collaborative Leadership Fieldbook. San Francisco, CA: Jossey-Bass.

Joe Flower's Conversation with David Chrislip. Collaboration: The New Leadership. Available on-line at:

<http://www.well.com/~bbear/chrislip.html>

Joe Flower's Conversation with Ronald Heifetz. Ronald Heifetz: Leadership without Easy Answers. Available on-line at:

<http://www.well.com/~bbear/heifetz.html>

University of Minnesota Extension. Leadership for the Common Good Fieldbook. Available on-line at:

<http://www.extension.umn.edu/distribution/citizenship/DH8118.html>

Next Session

SLIDE 47

Community Situational Analysis

April 30, 2008

1:30 to 3 p.m. CST

Anne Heinze Silvis

Foundations
of
Practice

Community Development
Core Competencies
for Extension
Professionals in the
North Central Region
© 2005 NCRCRD

The ability to analyze a particular issue or situation in a community from a historical, political, cultural and community context and determine Extension's role in the issue is an important competency of community development.

